DO YOU CHEAT
YOUR DOCTOR?

THAT is exactly what you do if you have his prescriptions
compounded elsewhere than at a pharmacy where quality is the first consideration. There is no half right in medicine; it is either right or wrong. If it is not exactly in accordance with the doctor's prescription it is wrong.

PRESCRIPTION COMPOUNDING

JUDGE WINN TO CONGRESS

NOMINATED BUT DECLINES TO MAKE RACE.

ADA MAN BIG REPUBLICAN

He Has Been the Recipient of Many
Honors from Party and in Return Has Awarded Much
Service.

The Hon. U. G. Winn, at present
member of the republican state executive committee, late republican candidate for state senator for the 23rd
district, has been nominated by the
republican 4th congressional district
convention to make the race in the
approaching primary for congress.
Judge Winn has declined the nomination on account of the demand of
his personal business. The News
hereunder publishes copy of his
formal letter of declination addressed
to the Hon. Sam Downing, chairman
of the committee. Judge Winn is regarded as one of the leading republicans of Oklahoma and well does he
deserve to sustain such reputation,
for in this district of overwhelming
democracy and within a state of democratic achievement such as must assuredly permanently maintain that
party in power—for its well grounded
principles will not admit of too dangerous defection from the chosen path
of righteousness—in such field of adverse substantial political opportunity for any republican, he has not
grown faint hearted, but through
time and financial subscription has
persevered in undertaking "to maintain the integrity of the republican state and district organization. The republicans, if anything, are a reciprocal organization—which is the
whereof of much of their success—
and many party honors have been
properly extended this distinguished
republican of Ada. He was one of the late alternate delegates to the Chicago convention.

Judge Winn's Letter.

Ada, Okla., June 22, 1908.

Hon. Sam Downing, Chairman Republican Congressional District Convention, Atoka, Ok.

My Dear Sir:

I am deeply impressed with the
honor conferred upon me by the republicans of the Fourth Congressional District, in nominating me for the
high office of congressman and am
no less impressed with a sense of
duty to serve my party when called
upon, but owing to the pressing importance of my personal attention to
private business affairs, I feel that I would be unable to make such a
campaign of the district as in my judgment would seem necessary and
am therefore persuaded, with some
degree of reluctance, to decline the
nomination.

I assure you that I shall always
be found in the ranks of the party
laboring for the upbuilding of the
party in the new state and the principles that have safely guided the
"old ship of state" for half a century.

Thanking you and the republicans
of the Fourth congressional district
for the unsolicited courtesies shown
me and the confidence sought to be
reposed in me as the republican national representative from this district, I beg to subscribe myself,
Your humble servant,
U. GRANT WINN.

BRYAN IN COMMONER

The president advocated an inheritance tax, but republican platform is
silent on that subject. Was the president ahead of the republican party
in advocating this reform or has the
republican party receded from the president's position? Did the president give a false alarm on this question or has the party sounded a retreat.

In the president's message to congress last spring he presented an indictment against the conspiracy found
among the great lawbreakers to prevent the enforcement of the law, and

to evade the punishments provided
by law. The platform adopted by the republican convention contains no intimidation of danger. If there are any conspiracies the convention did not
see them; if there are any combinations it has not heard of them; if
these are any dangers they are unconscious of them. Was the president
mistaken when he issued his defiance
or the republican managers deceived
when they think that an aroused public will calmly contemplate the encroachments of predatory wealth?
This is retreat No. 6.

The convention by a vote of 866 to 114—more than 7 to 1—voted down
the plank in favor of the popular
election of United States Senators. It is true that the president and Secretary Taft have never advocated the popular election of Senators. They seem to take the Hamiltonian rather
than the Jeffersonian view, but the most popular reform in the United States
today is the reform that has for its
object election of United States senators by direct vote. It has five times
been endorsed by the national house
of representatives—three times when
the house of representatives was republican. It has been endorsed by nearly two-thirds of the states of the union, and there is probably not a
state in the union in which it would
not be endorsed at a popular election
and yet in spite of the record made
in the houses and by the various
states this reform is rejected by a 7 to 1 vote in a republican national convention.

Here are seven propositions upon
which the republican party in nation convention assembled has retreat-
ed from the position taken by that
party in congress or from the position taken by the president. What
have Roosevelt republicans to say?
The president has awakened a spirit
of reform within his party he has
at least revealed to the world that
there are reformers in the republican party.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

At the North Side Baptist Church Sunday.

It is said by many who attended the "Children's Day Services" at the North Ada Baptist church on Sunday that no more interesting and impressive exercises could be given than those rendered by the young ladies and the children. This is especially true of the pieces entitled,

"Crowning the Book," "Planting a Rose Garden," rendered by the young ladies, and the address of welcome by Miss Adelia Richardson. Mrs. Rushing's Bible class in "Crowning the Book" brought tears from old men who stood in the doorway. Planting a Rose Garden with chorus, by the whole school was an object lesson indeed. This piece was rendered by Mrs. Ida Westbrook's class in which there is a bevy of Misses capable of doing justice to any moral or literary uplift.

Mrs. Grammer's class of little tots made a sweet display of what they could do. The classes led by Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. Vinnie Wilson, J. D. Gaar and others acquitted themselves gracefully.

Mrs. W. N. Walpole who did the training and had the management of the program has the heartfelt thanks of the parents of these children. These children have been led by Supt. D. Rushing, for months and he has certainly implanted in their young hearts the spirit of beneficence as was evidenced at the close of these exercises by the number of jingling mite boxes piled upon the pulpit, to be equally divided between our Orphans' Home and the American Baptist Publication Society. City Council Proceedings.

Council met in adjourned session. Mayor Geo. Harrison presiding. Present Alderman Haynes, Sims, Shirley, Little, Sutton, Crowder and Evans; absent Hill.

On motion of Alderman Haynes

and seconded by Alderman Evans the council voted to reconsider the bill of the Ada Democrat for printing a brief for the city, for which the amount of $13 had been allowed, after some discussion the council voted to sustain the bill as originally passed.

The council then took up the matter of street and sidewalk grades, street paving bond issues, etc., and on motion of Alderman Little, Mayor Harrison appointed Alderman Sims and Little to confer with committee of 25,000 Club and other citizens and arrange a meeting to discuss the questions and adopt a policy best for the majority of the citizens of Ada.

Chief Culver asked that he be given help to look after the impounding of stock and dogs, referred to the financial committee. The council then adjourned.

McAlester Gets State Convicts.

Guthrie, Okla., June 22.—The temporary penitentiary where the inmates of the state, now at Lansing, Kans., will be quartered, will be located at McAlester. The information is direct from the board of control, which met here tonight for the purpose of considering a contract from McAlester for the feeding of the prisoners to be worked on the McAlester road.

McAlester has offered one site of 100 acres free to the state and this will be accepted later. A huge stockade will be built for temporary purposes.

Four-fifths of the Oklahoma prisoners will be worked on the road. Muskogee has agreed to bridge all the streams crossed by the road and other counties are expected to follow suit. The cost of maintaining the convicts probably will be borne by the state.

SLAPS WRISTS OF

THE PAPER TRUST

New York, June 22.—Twenty-four companies manufacturing manila wrapping paper were fined $1,000 each in the United States circuit court today. They pleaded guilty Friday to maintaining an illegal combination in restraint of trade. In imposing the fines Judge Hough said that the combination was clearly a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but because of extenuating circumstances he would impose fines only. They will pay through counsel.

Extract of Eloquent Sermon Preached by the Pastor Rev. J. D. White.

Christ, the Spiritual Magnet.

And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. John 12:32.

We are living in an age of research in both the physical and spiritual realms. Man as a result of his investigation has been brought face to face with certain indisputable facts concerning nature's mysterious laws, forces and principles. He has learned much about his own experience and destiny but even here his knowledge will remain incomplete until perfected in eternity. However, it does seem inconsistent for a man to accept as true certain discovered facts concerning magnetism and other forces of nature and then reject other facts which are just as simple concerning his Christian life and destiny because he thinks the latter are too mysterious. Magnetism is a created force existing under certain conditions. The earth possesses this property to a marked degree. It is probable that the disciples to whom Christ addressed the language of our text did not understand magnetism as we do today but it is positively true that Christ intended to thus emphasize the fact that He was the great moral and spiritual Magnet to whom the people of all ages must be drawn that they might obtain salvation. It is therefore of Him in this sphere that we now turn our thoughts in prayerful consideration.

1. What magnetism is to the material world, Christ is to the spiritual world. The necessity of this force, however, little is known of its nature, is seen constantly in our daily life. Our lives and fortunes are many times entrusted to this force. The vessels that voyage between the nations of earth burdened with men and women and the world's merchandise are largely dependent upon the magnetic action of the compass together with the records kept that they may locate themselves on the ocean. A heavy gale may sweep them many miles from the direct path to their destination but their geographical location as to longitude and latitude is easily found. In spiritual councils, the Bible is our record. Christ, the moral and spiritual magnet to whom we are drawn. There is not a storm of sin or temptation that can sweep us from the path of duty so far but that with Christ as our magnet and the Bible as our record we can easily locate ourselves on the ocean of life. John, the beloved disciple when banished to the Isle of Patmos with a cave for his home and possibly criminals for his associates, was drawn so closely to Christ that he gave to the world its best and sweetest vision of Heaven in the book of Revelation.

2. The extent of Christ's magnetic power. It is to all men. "I will draw all men unto me." The time had come when men began to question the extent of salvation. A certain people had always been God's chosen people, and through them the sacred oracles of God had come. It is here that a world wide invitation to Christ for salvation is given. It is even more than an invitation, Christ will draw all men. While magnetic power of Christ is universal in extent in drawing men to Him it is also universal in repelling sin. If man clings to his sin the power that repels his sin will repel him also unless he breaks away from sin. This is why some are drawn to Christ while others are driven from him. It simply means fatal results for man to continue either by negligence or indifference to resist the magnetic power of Christ.

3. The object to which the magnetic power of Christ draws man. It is to himself. Sometimes we are attracted to objects that lack permanency. Possibly in certain sections of the country we could find where men have prospected for mineral but went away disappointed. Ponce De Leon went in search of the fabled fountain of youth but returned in disappointment. When we come to Christ there is no disappointment but we find in him the treasures far more valuable to us than the material things of this world. We find in the fountain of joy, peace and love.

4. The magnetic power of Christ makes magnets of us. Dr. H. B. Gage tell us of a compass in which the needle had lost its polarity and pointed to the south when it should point to the north. He would point the needle in the right direction but this would not remedy the defect. Finally he fastened the needle with point properly directed and passed an electric current through it and thus properly restored its polarization. Sin effects our lives in such a manner that we lose the power to point others to Christ. We need to be brought more closely with God's power through Christ ourselves. Christian culture, growth and refinement is always found when near Christ. Let us resolve that we will be drawn to Christ rather than be attracted by sin.

The Vanishing Fleets

had been one of the first to enter the United States when the barrier against the world was thrown down, and Norma, still yearning for his love, had gone to his arms as if nothing had ever held them apart. She was a world figure now, and the world was at her feet. Behind him was nothing save the knowledge of earnest endeavor and honest defeat; but to her he had been the same, nor did she anticipate that a king would later take his hand and say, "Well done, even though you failed."

They had passed the brief days prior to the ceremony in dread, courtship, neither the display nor the limelight into which they were driven by the parts they had played. The publicity had been against their wishes, and the gifts of the world in which each country vied afforded no pleasure equal to that of being alone and at rest with each other. They had seized the first opportunity after the marriage to escape, leaving their destination unknown.

They had retreated to the seclusion of Atlantic Highlands, where the great beacon stands facing the broad stretch of open sea, and where they might be removed from the pomp and pageantry of nations. And even as that great embarkation took place along the water front of the city which loomed far behind them, they stood on a cliff by the ocean side. They had avoided the last act in the drama of deference, a reception given to the president and the inventor, and were content to be left alone.

Suddenly from the far away bay came the slow, sullen undertone of guns in salute. Again came the thunderous monotone and then, emerging from the distant haze into the clearer air, appeared a flight of aerial things in orderly formation. The girl's hands clasped themselves together as she watched.

There they were, 20 miles away, the ships—her ships—which she had led out to victory and directed through the maze and turmoil of battle. She stood silent and spellbound as they slowly advanced, and then discerned on the waters beneath them the slow moving shapes of ships of the sea. The radioplanes were traversing the air as an escort above those others in final parade. In twin procession the fleets came nearer, embodiments of might.

The guns of Governor's island belched as they advanced; then from opposite sides of the channel the voices of Forts Lafayette and Hamilton gave greeting and farewell. Onward they swept to where the colossal statue of Liberty held her beacon aloft in token of a new enlightenment of the world, and the cannon of the sea fleet spoke for the first time in unison, saluting as they passed in one terrible explosion of sound which reverberated along the shores and was thrown back by the echoes. Here they came, the dying gladiators of all nations, sailing out to doom! Well in front were the vanquished squadrons of Japan, their funnels repaired for the last cruise, they would ever make, but stripped of fighting masts. Back of them came the mighty ships of England, with prows turned outward for their final voyage. German cruisers, graceful and well manned, followed; while in their wakes could be seen others flying the banners of Italy, of France, of Russia, and nearly every maritime nation of the globe. Flanking this assemblage were the vessels of the American navy, which but a short time before had been regarded as the country's bulwarks, and were now participating in the last review.

The science of ages, the experience of all who had gone down to the sea,

Thousands Had Been Contented with a Stare.

the refinement of skill and study, and the genius of evolution were embodied in those metal sides. They represented the wealth of nations collected through sweat and blood, all poured out unthinkingly for this—consignment to the scrap heaps of a world that had abandoned war. The glories of past deeds of valor would no longer be emulated upon the waves. The sea had been untenanted before man's ingenuity found a means of breasting it. His coming had left it unscarred and unimproved. It alone was unconquerable, changeless and heedless. Through centuries it had scorned him, and now it was bidding his craft

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

G. W. Pulse, janitor of the Central school, residing at 315 E. Logan avenue, Guthrie, Okla., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy in which I have great confidence, and I heartily re-endorse what I have before stated about them in our Guthrie newspapers. I have had occasion to appeal to them twice since giving my original statement, and as in the former case, they quickly dispersed the backache and other symptoms of either over-excited or weakened kidneys. I have been asked about them by a number of my friends and acquaintances, and I never fail to speak of them in high words of praise. I remember one party in particular who came to me and asked about them. It was a friend who was suffering and had been for years. I advised him to use them. He did so, and I afterwards, learned that they cured him completely. It is a pleasure to endorse a remedy which acts up to the representation made for it."

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, or taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or break off these early colds. That's surely better. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 6c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

STATES HIS POSITION IN ICE BUSINESS SOLICITS SUPPORT

To the People of Ada:

I wish to say in regard to the ice business that there has been considerable talk along that line for the past three or four weeks and sometimes any one would almost think there had never been any ice business in Ada before, which you all know is a mistake. I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice. I have been here six years and there has been ice here nearly all the time, or more so than some towns of larger population. I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice. I have lost sleep in the past and worked at night as well as my neighbor, and it was a critical time, very hot and dry when ice was most needed, but of course I have not lost any sleep this spring from the simple fact that there hasn't been any occasion, for the ice weather hasn't come yet for the ice man who has his people's wants at heart to worry and lose sleep to keep them in ice, and I want to say that those parties who have come from Kansas City and started the plant here, that they are not any more home people than I am. As stated above, I have been here six years, and I'll say that I haven't been out of Ada to exceed ten days at any one time, and all the property I own is here and all the interests I have is in Ada today, and I want to tell you if the plant that is here can be run to a success, I am as glad to see it as any one; if it will make any money in Ada I want it to go. But you must remember, I am in the ice business, have got a lot of money invested and have tried to adjust matters with the plant so I would not have to be in any way conflicting with their business and instead, become a customer of theirs myself, but have failed and now I shall ask of you to remember that I've kept ice here when no one else would through winter and summer and especially in the winter season; of course you did not want it then, only in case of sickness and in case of that sort you most assuredly needed it if you ever did in the world. Now think, when did you call to get it? I will leave that for you to say. Now I will ask your support for the above reason.

I have the best ice that is manufactured in the southwest. There is none better. I use the Chas. V. Sanderson coupon system which is given up to be the best and most reliable system for handling ice ever invented.

The reporter caught Mr. King a minute on the street and inquired of him the condition of the crops in the east. He stated that floods in Alabama, as in Oklahoma, had worked irreparable injury to crops.

THE SHOE MAN

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 15, 1908
Messrs. Hardin and Jones,

Ada, Oklahoma,
Gentlemen:

On June 4th I called on the late Sheriff Garrison of Oklahoma City to induce him to continue the $5,000 accident policy which he had carried with this company for five years.

He stated that he had given the matter careful consideration and had decided to discontinue this protection for the present.

On June 5th Mr. Garrison was shot and killed by a negro whom he was attempting to capture.

The sheriff of Kay Co. Oklahoma, was killed this spring by being thrown from a moving passenger train at Ponca City. He had written this company for rates one day before.

If the sheriff and other officers in your county do not carry this important protection, why not?

Yours truly,

BEHIND THE SCENES IN POLITICS

THE WARD BOSSES

By ERNEST M'GAFFEY

WARD "bosses" come and go. They rise and fall, and one makes room for another. The fluctuations in politics are as sudden and abrupt as the changes in the stock market, and the "boss" of last year may be the plainest of plain citizens the ensuing year. One thing is morally certain, there will never be an elimination of "bosses" in politics, because leaders are an absolute necessity in every movement, and prime ministers and presidents are as surely political "bosses" as are the ward politicians who hold their wards in the hollow of their hands.

Some people, good people, too, have started in to fight "bosses," and have ended up by co-operating with them and getting their aid to improve conditions in certain districts. Fighting a political "boss" is an uphill job, for "the respectables," so-called, are usually too busy to give any assistance, and the "boys" are all with the "boss." I remember a reformer who tried to win out on the presidency of a ward club against the "boss." He tried two years and was defeated, but the third term he seemed to be sure of success. Nearly every one of the members of the club promised him aid, and Dugan, as I will call him, had high hopes. The night of the election, with 189 members present, Dugan's name was put before the club amid a storm of applause. His nomination was seconded by at least five additional speeches, each a glowing eulogy of "Danny Dugan's staunch qualities and services to the party." Dugan sat enraptured with the praises which were being handed out to him. The "boss" candidate, Casey, was nominated in a half-dozen words and feebly seconded by only one individual.

Dugan himself was appointed one of the tellers, and a roar of approbation shook the hall as the chairman announced his selection. Dugan went up and down the aisles, and everybody gave him the "glad hand" and folded their ballots and tossed them into the hat he carried with "There's another for you, Dan, old boy," or "Hurrah for Danny Dugan."

He had a ballot shoved at him with the injunction, "Make it unanimous, Danny; hurl in a vote for your own ticket," and he put his ballot in the other teller's hat and sat down in the seventh heaven of anticipation. The counting was finished in a few minutes and Dugan smiled as he saw the ballots all going over to one side. "It's a walk-away," he whispered to the man next to him. "It's a landslide," said his neighbor. The chairman stepped to the front of the platform and announced the vote for president as follows: "For Peter Casey, 188 votes; for Daniel Dugan, one vote." Dugan grabbed his hat and madly rushed from the room, with a perfect howl of cheers following him. It was his last appearance in politics. The term "political boss" images to most people a stoutly-built man with a pug nose and a large diamond, who smokes long black cigars and rules his ward or district with a rod of iron. Sometimes he is represented as a man with a heart bursting with sympathy for the poor, who squeezes the rich citizen to help out the constituents whose votes he harvests on election day. He is generally typified as eloquently profane, and story-writers delight to set him down invariably as of Irish birth.

As a matter of fact, however, there are just as many different "bosses" as there are nationalities in the large cities, for a "boss" is simply a leader for the time being, and that may be for a few months, a few years or longer. And some of the most successful of all "bosses," politically speaking, have been Americans. The present president of the United States is one of the most masterful of political bosses. Who in his party dare openly say him "nay" with any hope of winning out against his rock-rooted strength?

The "boss" in the cities, however, especially the typical ward "boss," is often a man who may be evolved by either accident or design. Sometimes a man goes into the game to help a friend out, or to satisfy a grudge, and the glamour of the thing attracts him and he stays in, to finally emerge as a full-blown "leader." And some one of the young fellows who go into politics deliberately will work on for years in the same ward, growing up with the people who live there, identifying himself with them and their interests and finally winning the confidence of his constituents so lastingly that they will vote almost to a man as he wishes.

A true "boss" both follows and leads. He knows what his "people" want, and he does not stray far away from their desires. If his ward has a constituency which favors a liberal interpretation of the liquor question he is for the "open" Sunday, and even the all-night saloon, if necessary. He is strong on the subject of "the poor man's club" and hot against "blue laws" and for the maximum of "personal liberty." Incidentally, he favors a low license, usually.

If a "boss" lives in a Prohibition district he fulminates against "the demon rum" and points out statistically the ruin wrought by drink. This may not prevent him from having his "high-balls" at the club, or his champagne at the political banquets, but makes him strong with the voters whose support he seeks. He is on the alert for "blind pigs," or places where liquor is smuggled in and sold secretly, and he leads delegations to the mayor's office and to the legislatures to protest against the vice of drinking.

The average "political boss" is in politics strictly for "what is in it," and that means that he is neither in the game for his health, his recreation nor his spiritual welfare. And why not? Do business or professional men enter into their respective vocations for any of the above reasons? I trow not. The "boss" has one fixed, set idea, and that is to "get there," as he would express it; to accumulate a large roll of simoleons and then retire to some respectable residence portion of the city and forget the low, coarse mob with which he was compelled to associate while he was getting his start. The successful ones do this, and the unsuccessful ones remain at the same old stand, reviling the ingratitude of the ones who "made the rifle" and got away with their "bundle."

Ward "bosses" often combine to accomplish results, and they often cut the ground from under one another without the slightest compunction. I never knew but one "boss" whose word was absolutely and entirely to be depended on both as to what he could do, and what he would do. He could tell to a certainty about how his ward would go, and if he gave his word as to the delegates he never under any circumstances broke. He was a man of strong likes and dislikes and exceedingly blunt in his way of putting things. But he could neither be wheedled nor intimidated. The mere fact that he had promised the support of his delegates in a convention to a certain candidate did not determine that he would support that candidate at the polls on election. But just so far as his word went, that promise was iron-clad and irrevocable.

Time was when a "boss" was to be marked by his reputation for physical prowess. But those days are in the sere and yellow leaf. Strange to say, even in the toughest of the "tough" wards, the "leaders" are very seldom now men who depend on their "knock down and drag out" abilities. The "boss" of to-day aspires to be a "dresser" and a wit, not a "slugger." Pugilism is left to its regular exponents, and though many of the "bosses" may be patrons of the sparring matches, they have given the rough-and-tumble method of the past the good-by, and plume themselves on smoother plans to achieve success.

Such a thing as a conscience is something that no unscrupulous ward "boss" will harbor, for to him conscience is a dead letter in politics. Besides, a "boss" may be in one party one year, and on the other side of the fence the next year. He may support a measure at first and then "switch" and fight it. Expediency is his watchword, and he will support a man whom he cordially despises if he can see advantage to himself in the end. The questions of party principles have an exceedingly hazy interest to him, for the class with which he mingles, and the interests which he represents, have no time at all to study political economy, and no inclination towards the ethical side of politics.

It was a matter of genuine interest to meet the various "bosses," big and little, and weigh them and analyze them as they came into my perspective. They were always a trifle curious as to just how I happened to be in politics, and I am quite certain they were decidedly uncertain as to just how I came to be holding down a fair-salaried position when I could not deliver delegates; and yet, meeting me in the game at every turn, from the primaries to the national conventions, they knew I was "keeping cases," as they may have expressed it, and that in some mysterious way I must be of some value in the sum total of elements making up political life.

The question of silent "bosses" and talkative "bosses" is one which has been variously reviewed, and the average judgment has been that the silent "boss" was the great power. The fact was that the "silent" boss could talk fast enough when he wanted to, and the talkative boss could "stand pat" when he so desired. If it was the nature of a "boss" to talk he did so; if he was naturally a secretive man, he kept still generally. The most effective combination was the "Boss" who could talk or keep still as occasion demanded, and who could neither be goaded nor coaxed into either silence or speech against his better judgment.

It could be said in favor of nearly every real ward "boss" that he was not an orator. Not in the sense of a "silver-tongued spell-binder." Many of them could give good, common-sense talks, and effective ones, too, but they did not essay to split the welkin with their perorations, and rather despised in their hearts the "wind-jammer" and his periods. At the same time, for a genuinely great speaker they had a deep respect and enjoyed hearing him. As for the "man with the pen," they were never unwilling to avail themselves of his services if he could "make good" with anything to help on a campaign.

LONGEVITY IN HOT CLIMATES

Tropical Races Are Shown to Be Much Longer Lived.

Because in tropical countries more decayed vegetable matter is found and in consequence more miasma, the idea has become popular that only vigorous health and long life are likely in northern latitudes where frost now and then asserts itself. The fact that humanity matures much earlier in tropical climates seems to warrant the conclusion that it must necessarily perish much earlier. Dr. Luigi Sambon of Rome attempts to put the popular impression to sleep by an elaborate exhibition of statistics.

He doesn't contend that the warmest climate is the most suitable to a man, under the conditions of modern civilization, but he remonstrates vigorously against the idea that a cold and variable climate is the most conducive to the physical and intellectual improvement of the human race. While northern climates may produce stalwart frames, statistics show that they do not conduce to longevity. In proof of his position the doctor cites the fact that the average Arab outlives the average Esquimaux by not less than 25 years.

He shows that the people who live along the unhealthy coasts of Central and South America survive the inhabitants of the higher and cooler altitudes of the interior. He shows also that the Hindus, who often reach puberty as early as nine years, live to a surprising old age. The inhabitants of the southern countries of Europe are found to live much longer than those of the more northern latitude.

To illustrate, in England in a population of 27,000,000 there are but 146 centenarians, while in Spain, with a population of but 18,000,000, there are 401 centenarians. The probabilities are that the great mortality found in southern latitudes is found in the cities, and is therefore not so much the fault of the climate as of an indifference to sanitary laws.

Forcing His Chances.

TAMMANY TO MOVE

MORE CENTRAL LOCATION DESIRED BY ORGANIZATION.

Present Quarters Have Been Occupied by the Democratic Body Since 1868—One National Convention Held There.

New York.—Tammany is to leave its historic home in East Fourteenth street and move uptown.

A movement quietly began several weeks ago among the sachems of the Tammany society for the sale of the old building and the purchase of a modern, up-to-date one in the center of activity is expected to reach a definite stage soon. Charles F. Murphy favors the change, it is said.

One of the reasons of the secrecy observed was that agents might quietly look for a site. It is intimated that options have been taken on two or three. It is expected that it will take at least a year to erect a building suitable to the needs of the Tammany society and of Tammany hall. It is the present intention of the sachems to

Those advocating the change insist that it will be very profitable to Tammany. There has been recently a great demand for the property on which Tammany hall, Pastor's theater and the Academy of Music stand as sites for modern buildings. If Tammany moves, Pastor's theater, owned by the society, would have to go also, and it is regarded as certain that the entire block fronting on East Fourteenth street would be purchased and modern buildings erected upon it.

The main inducement to the change is that Tammany hall is no longer centrally located. A site not lower than Thirty-fifth street and perhaps even north of Forty-second street, is desired.

The existing building has been the home of Tammany since 1868, when the organization moved from its old quarters where is now the New York Sun building. The removal was marked by a notable parade of the braves. In 1868 the only Democratic national convention ever held in this city was held in the present building. Horatio Seymour, who had declared on the platform of the convention that he was not a candidate, was nominated for president.

Quarters of Tammany Hall from 1812 to 1868.

Puzzling Problem Solved.

In these days of the perplexing servant girl question and the can't-keep-the-cook joke it is interesting to note that there are some striking exceptions to the general rule. The Chicago School of Domestic Arts and Sciences at its recent annual meeting presented a gold medal to a maid who has served continuously in one family for 34 years, and placed on a roll of honor the names of ten others who have kept one place for from 11 to 20 years. Mrs. Nelson Thomasson, the lucky employer of the prize winner, said: "In my opinion, the servant problem would be solved speedily if the old-time affection between servant and employer could be revived. Eliza stays with us because she likes us and we like her. She is one of the family. She has risen above rules and regulations, which are as unnecessary in her case as they would be in mine. She goes out when she thinks it convenient and stays in when she thinks it advisable. When she sees work to be done she does it."

Wherein We Differ.

The duchess of Marlborough, at the dinner given in New York in honor of Mrs. Humphry Ward, said: "From earliest childhood English women are made to feel the obligations of individual responsibility and society itself demands adequate fulfillment. It is this sense of obligation that we American women should foster and develop."

Could Not Pass the Examination.

A dilapidated specimen of a man stopped a Kansas City merchant on the street one morning and asked for a cash donation. "Mister," he said in a plaintive voice, "I hain't had any work to do for more'n a month, an' I'm powerful hard up."

"Been out of work for a month?" said the merchant. "What is your occupation?" "I work in the packing-house when I can get anything to do."

"In the killing department?" "No, sir; in the cutting-room."

"Then you can tell me, perhaps, how many teeth a cow has on her upper jaw?"

"Why—er—no, sir. I never noticed."

"That's too bad," said the merchant, putting his hand in his pocket. "The dime I am going to give you would have been a dollar if you hadn't failed in your examination."—Youth's Companion.

Not in Favor of College.

Mrs. William H. Taft is not in favor of the college education for her daughter, but will not oppose her if she wishes to take it. Mrs. Taft says that she thinks for the work that a woman will do in the world in her own home an academic education is sufficient. Her daughter will graduate this year at a preparatory school at Bryn Mawr and will be fitted to enter the college if she cares to.

JUDGE WIN TO CONGRESS

NOMINATED BUT DECLINES TO MAKE RACE.

ADA MAN BIG REPUBLICAN

He Has Been the Recipient of Many
Honors from Party and in Return Has Awarded Much
Service.

The Hon. U. G. Winn, at present
member of the republican state executive committee, late republican candidate for state senator for the 23rd
district, has been nominated by the
republican 4th congressional district
convention to make the race in the
approaching primary for congress.
Judge Winn has declined the nomi-
nation on account of the demand of
his personal business. The News
hereunder publishes copy of his
formal letter of declination addressed
to the Hon. Sam Downing, chairman
of the committee. Judge Winn is regarded as one of the leading republicans of Oklahoma and well does he
deserve to sustain such reputation,
for in this district of overwhelming
democracy and within a state of democratic achievement such as must assuredly permanently maintain that
party in power—for its well grounded
principles will not admit of too dangerous defection from the chosen path
of righteousness—in such field of ad-
verse substantial political opportunity for any republican, he has not
grown faint hearted, but through
time and financial subscription has
persevered in undertaking to maintain the integrity of the republican
state and district organization. The
republicans, if anything, are a re-
ciprocal organization—which is the
whereof of much of their success—
and many party honors have been
properly extended this distinguished
republican of Ada. He was one of
the late alternate delegates to the Chicago convention.

Judge Winn's Letter.

Ada, Okla., June 22, 1908.

Hon. Sam Downing, Chairman Republican Congressional District Convention, Atoka, Ok.

My Dear Sir:—

I am deeply impressed with the
honor conferred upon me by the republicans of the Fourth Congressional District, in nominating me for the
high office of congressman and am
no less impressed with a sense of
duty to serve my party when called
upon, but owing to the pressing importance of my personal attention to
private business affairs, I feel that I would be unable to make such a
campaign of the district as in my
judgment would seem necessary and
am therefore persuaded, with some
degree of reluctance, to decline the
nomination.

I assure you that I shall always
be found in the ranks of the party
laboring for the upbuilding of the
party in the new state and the principles that have safely guided the
"old ship of state" for half a century.

Thanking you and the republicans
of the Fourth congressional district
for the unsolicited courtesies shown
me and the confidence sought to be
reposed in me as the republican national representative from this district, I beg to subscribe myself,
Your humble servant,
U. GRANT WINN.

BRYAN IN COMMONER

The president advocated an inheritance tax, but republican platform is
silent on that subject. Was the president ahead of the republican party
in advocating this reform or has the
republican party receded from the president's position? Did the president give a false alarm on this question or has the party sounded a retreat.

In the president's message to congress last spring he presented an indictment against the conspiracy found
among the great lawbreakers to pre-

vent the enforcement of the law, and
to evade the punishments provided
by law. The platform adopted by the
republican convention contains no indication of danger. If there are any
conspiracies the convention did not
see them; if there are any combina-
tions it has not heard of them; if
there are any dangers they are un-
conscious of them. Was the president
mistaken when he issued his defiance
or the republican managers deceived
when they think that an aroused public will calmly contemplate the en-
croachments of predatory wealth?
This is retreat No. 6.

The convention by a vote of 866 to 114—more than 7 to 1—voted down
the plank in favor of the popular
election of United States Senators. It
is true that the president and Secretary Taft have never advocated the
popular election of Senators. They
seem to take the Hamiltonian rather
than the Jeffersonian view, but the most
popular reform in the United States
today is the reform that has for its
object election of United States senators by direct vote. It has five times
been indorsed by the national house
of representatives—three times when
the house of representatives was republican. It has been indorsed by
nearly two-thirds of the states of the
union, and there is probably not a
state in the union in which it would not be indorsed at a popular election
and yet in spite of the record made
in the houses and by the various
states this reform is rejected by a 7 to 1 vote in a republican national convention.

Here are seven propositions upon
which the republican party in nation convention assembled has retreat-
ed from the position taken by that
party in congress or from the position taken by the president. What
have Roosevelt republicans to say?
The president has awakened a spirit
of reform within his party he has
at least revealed to the world that
there are reformers in the republi-
can party.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

At the North Side Baptist Church
Sunday.

It is said by many who attended the "Children's Day Services" at the North Ada Baptist church on Sunday that no more interesting and impressive exercises could be given than those rendered by the young ladies and the children. This is especially true of the pieces entitled,

"Crowning the Book," "Planting a Rose Garden," rendered by the young ladies, and the address of welcome by Miss Adelia Richardson. Mrs. Rushing's Bible class in "Crowning the Book" brought tears from old men who stood in the doorway. "Planting a Rose Garden" with chorus, by the whole school was an object lesson indeed. This piece was rendered by Mrs. Ida Westbrook's class in which there is a bevy of Misses capable of doing justice to any moral or literary uplift.

Mrs. Grammer's class of little tots made a sweet display of what they could do. The classes led by Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. Vinnie Wilson, J. D. Gaar and others acquitted themselves gracefully.

Mrs. W. N. Walpole who did the training and had the management of the program has the heartfelt thanks of the parents of these children. These children have been led by Supt. D. Rushing, for months and he has certainly implanted in their young hearts the spirit of beneficence as was evidenced at the close of these exercises by the number of jingling little boxes piled upon the pulpit, to be equally divided between our Orphans' Home and the American Baptist Publication Society. City Council Proceedings.

Council met in adjourned session, Mayor Geo. Harrison presiding. Present Alderman Haynes, Sims, Shirley, Little, Sutton, Crowder and Evans; absent Hill.

and seconded by Alderman Evans the council voted to reconsider the bill of the Ada Democrat for printing a letter for the city for which the amount of $43 had been allowed, after some discussion the council voted to sustain the bill as originally passed.

The council then took up the matter of street and sidewalks grades, street paving bond issues, etc., and on motion of Alderman Little, Mayor Harrison appointed Alderman Sims and Little to confer with committee of 25,000 Club and other citizens and arrange a meeting to discuss the questions and adopt a policy best for the majority of the citizens of Ada.

Chief Culver asked that he be given help to look after the impounding of stock and dogs, referred to the financial committee. The council then adjourned.

McAlester Gets State Convicts.

Guthrie, Okla., June 22.—The temporary penitentiary where the inmates of the state, now at Lansing, Kans., will be quartered, will be located at McAlester. The information is direct from the board of control, which met here tonight for the purpose of considering a contract from McAlester for the feeding of the prisoners to be worked on the McAlester road.

It has offered one site of 100 acres free to the state and this will be accepted later. A huge stockade will be built for temporary purposes.

Four-fifths of the Oklahoma prisoners will be worked on the road. Muskogee has agreed to bridge all the streams crossed by the road and other counties are expected to follow suit. The cost of maintaining the convicts probably will be borne by the state.

New York, June 22.—Twenty-four companies manufacturing manila wrapping paper were fined $1,000 each in the United States circuit court today. They pleaded guilty Friday to maintaining an illegal combination in restraint of trade. In imposing the fines Judge Hough said that the combination was clearly a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but because of extenuating circumstances he would impose fines only. They will pay through counsel.

SUNDAY AT THE PRESBYTERIAN.

Extract of Eloquent Sermon Preached by the Pastor Rev. J. B. White.

Christ, the Spiritual Magnet.
And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. John 12:32.

We are living in an age of research in both the physical and spiritual realms. Man as a result of his investigation has been brought face to face with certain indisputable facts concerning nature's mysterious laws, forces and principles. He has learned much about his own experience and destiny but even here his knowledge will remain incomplete until perfected in eternity. However, it does seem inconsistent for a man to accept as true certain discovered facts concerning magnetism and other forces of nature and then reject other facts which are just as simple concerning his Christian life and destiny because he thinks the latter are too mysterious. Magnetism is a created force existing under certain conditions. The earth possesses this property to a marked degree. It is probable that the disciples to whom Christ addressed the language of our text did not understand magnetism as we do today but it is positively true that Christ intended to thus emphasize the fact that He was the great moral and spiritual Magnet to whom the people of all ages must be drawn that they might obtain salvation. It is therefore of Him in this sphere that we now turn our thoughts in prayerful consideration.

1. What magnetism is to the material world, Christ is to the spiritual world. The necessity of this force, however, little is known of its nature, is seen constantly in our daily life. Our lives and fortunes are many times entrusted to this force. The vessels that voyage between the nations of earth burdened with men and women and the world's merchandise are largely dependent upon the magnetic action of the compass together with the records kept that they may locate themselves on the ocean. A heavy gale may sweep them many miles from the direct path to their destination but their geographical location as to longitude and latitude is easily found in spiritual compasses the Bible is our record. Christ the moral and spiritual magnet to whom we are drawn. There is not a storm of sin or temptation that can sweep us from the path of duty so far but that with Christ as our magnet and the Bible as our record we can easily locate ourselves on the ocean of life. John the beloved disciple when banished to the Isle of Patmos with a cave for his home and possibly criminals for his associates, was drawn so close to Christ that he saw in the world its best and sweetest vision of heaven in the book of Revelation.

2. The extent of Christ's magnetic power. It is to all men. "I will draw all men unto me." The time had come when men began to question the extent of salvation. A certain people had always been God's chosen people, and through them the sacred oracles of God had come. It is here that a world wide invitation to Christ for salvation is given. It is even more than an invitation, Christ will draw all men. While magnetic power of Christ is universal in extent in drawing men to Him it is also universal in repelling sin. It man clings to his sin the power that repels his sin will repel him also unless he breaks away from sin. This is why some are drawn to Christ while others are driven from him. It simply means fatal results for man to continue either by negligence or indifference to resist the magnetic power of Christ.

3. The object to which the magnetic power of Christ draws man. It is to himself. Sometimes we are attracted to objects that lack permanency. Possibly in certain sections of the country we could find where men have prospected for mineral but went away disappointed. Ponce De Leon went in search of the fabled fountain of youth but returned in disappointment. When we come to Christ there is no disappointment but we find in him the treasures far more valuable to us than the material things of this world. We find in the fountain of joy, peace and love.

4. The magnetic power of Christ makes magnets of us. Dr. H. B. Gage tells us of a compass in which the needle had lost its polarity and pointed to the south when it should point to the north. He would point the needle in the right direction but this would not remedy the defect. Finally he fastened the needle with point properly directed and passed an electric current through it and thus properly restored its polarization. Sin effects our lives in such a manner that we lose the power to point others to Christ. We need to be brought more closely with God's power through Christ ourselves. Christian culture, growth and refinement is always found when near Christ. Let us resolve that we will be drawn to Christ rather than be attracted by sin.

had been one of the first to enter the United States when the barrier against the world was thrown down, and Norma, still yearning for his love, had gone to his arms as if nothing had ever held them apart. She was a world figure now, and the world was at her feet. Behind him was nothing save the knowledge of earnest endeavor and honest defeat; but to her he had been the same, nor did she anticipate that a king would later take his hand and say, "Well done, even though you failed."

They had passed the brief days prior to the ceremony in dread, courtship, neither the display nor the limelight into which they were driven by the parts they had played. The publicity had been against their wishes, and the gifts of the world in which each country vied afforded no pleasure equal to that of being alone and at rest with each other. They had seized the first opportunity after the marriage to escape, leaving their destination unknown.

They had retreated to the seclusion of Atlantic Highlands, where the great beacon stands facing the broad stretch of open sea, and where they might be removed from the pomp and pageantry of nations. And even as that great embarkation took place along the water front of the city which loomed far behind them, they stood on a cliff by the ocean side.

They had avoided the last act in the drama of deference, a reception given to the president and the inventor, and were content to be left alone.

Suddenly from the far away bay came the slow, sullen undertone of guns in salute. Again came the thunderous monotone and then, emerging from the distant haze into the clearer air, appeared a flight of aerial things in orderly formation. The girl's hands clasped themselves together as she watched.

There they were, 20 miles away, the ships—her ships—which she had led out to victory and directed through the maze and turmoil of battle. She stood silent and spellbound as they slowly advanced, and then discerned on the waters beneath them the slow moving shapes of ships of the sea. The radioplanes were traversing the air as an escort above those others in final parade. In twin procession the fleets came nearer, embodiments of might.

The guns of Governor's island belched as they advanced; then from opposite sides of the channel the voices of Forts Lafayette and Hamilton gave greeting and farewell. Onward they swept to where the colossal statue of Liberty held her beacon aloft in token of a new enlightenment of the world, and the cannon of the sea fleet spoke for the first time in unison, saluting as they passed in one terrible explosion of sound which reverberated along the shores and was thrown back by the echoes. Here they came, the dying gladiators of all nations sailing out to doom!

Well in front were the vanquished squadrons of Japan, their funnels repaired for the last cruise they would ever make, but stripped of fighting masts. Back of them came the mighty ships of England, with prows turned outward for their final voyage. German cruisers, graceful and well manned, followed, while in their wakes could be seen others flying the banners of Italy, of France, of Russia, and nearly every maritime nation of the globe. Flanking this assemblage were the vessels of the American navy, which but a short time before had been regarded as the country's bulwarks, and were now participating in the last review.

The science of ages, the experience of all who had come down to the sea,

Thousands Had Been Contented with a Safe.

the refinement of skill and study, and the genius of evolution were embodied in those metal sides. They represented the wealth of nations collected through sweat and blood, all poured out unthinkingly for this—consignment to the scrap heaps of a world that had abandoned war. The glories of past deeds of valor would no longer be emulated upon the waves. The sea had been untenanted before man's ingenuity found a means of breasting it. His coming had left it unscarred and unimproved. It alone was unconquerable, changeless and heedless. Through centuries it had scorned him, and now it was bidding his craft

Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. G. W. Paine, janitor of the Central school, residing at 315 E. Logan avenue, Guthrie, Okla., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy in which I have great confidence, and I heartily re-endorse what I have before stated about them in our Guthrie newspapers. I have had occasion to appeal to them twice since giving my original statement, and in the former case, they quickly dispersed the backache and other symptoms of an over-excited or weakened kidney. I have been asked about them by a number of my friends and acquaintances, and I never fail to speak of them in high words of praise. I remember one party in particular who came to me and asked about them. It was a friend who was suffering and had been for years. I advised him to use them. He did so, and I afterwards, learned that they cured him completely. It is a pleasure to endorse a remedy which acts up to the representation made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneezing stage—they break, or head of these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Preventics may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, night fever, here's probably the Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 10 boxes for the pocket, also in 20 boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure or the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spool than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

STATES HIS POSITION IN ICE BUSINESS SOLICITS SUPPORT

To the People of Ada

I wish to say in regard to the ice
business that there has been considerable talk along that line for the past three or four weeks and sometimes any one would almost think there had never been any ice business in Ada before which you all know is a mistake I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice I have been here six years and there has been ice here nearly all the time or more so than some towns of larger population I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice I have lost sleep in the past and worked at night as well as my neighbor and it was a critical time very hot
and dry when ice was most needed, but of course I have not lost any sleep this spring from the simple fact that there hasn't been any occasion
for the ice weather hasn't come yet for the ice man who has his people's wants at heart to worry and lose sleep to keep them in ice and I want to say that those parties who have come from Kansas City and started the plant here that they are not any more home people than I am As stated above I have been here
six years and I'll say that I haven't been out of Ada to exceed ten days
at any one time and all the property I own is here and all the interests I have in Ada today and I want to tell you if the plant that is here can be run to a success I am as glad to see it as any one If it will make any money in Ada I want it to go But you must remember I am in the ice business have got a lot of money invested and have tried to adjust matters with the plant so I would not have to be in any way conflicting with their business and instead become a customer of theirs myself

but have failed and now I shall ask of you to remember that I've kept ice here when no one else would through winter and summer and especially in the winter season of course you did not want it then only in case of sickness and in case of that sort you most assuredly needed it if you ever did in the world Now think when did you call to get it? I will leave that for you to say Now I will ask your support for the above reason I have the best ice that is manufactured in the southwest There is none better I use the Chas V San-

had carried with this company for five years.

He stated that he had given the matter careful consideration and had decided to discontinue this protection for the present.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN POLITICS

THE WARD BOSSES

By ERNEST M'GAFFEY

WARD "bosses" come and go. They rise and fall, and one makes room for another. The fluctuations in politics are as sudden and abrupt as the changes in the stock market, and the boss of last year may be the plainest of plain citizens the ensuing year. One thing is morally certain, there will never be an elimination of bosses in politics because leaders are an absolute necessity in every movement, and prime ministers and presidents are as surely political bosses as are the ward politicians who hold their wards in the hollow of their hands.

Some people good people, too have started in to fight bosses, and have ended up by co-operating with them and getting their aid to improve conditions in certain districts. Fighting a political boss is an uphill job for the "respectables," so called, are usually too busy to give any assistance, and the "boys" are all with the boss. I remember a reformer who tried to win out on the presidency of a ward club against the boss. He tried two years and was defeated, but the third term he seemed to be sure of success. Nearly every one of the members of the club promised him aid, and Dugan, as I will call him, had high hopes. The night of the election, with 189 members present, Dugan's name was put before the club amid a storm of applause. His nomination was seconded by at least five additional speeches, each a glowing eulogy of "Danny Dugan's staunch qualities and services to the party." Dugan sat enraptured with the praises which were being handed out to him. The boss candidate, Casey, was nominated in a half dozen words and finally seconded by only one individual.

Dugan himself was appointed one of the tellers, and a roar of approbation shook the hall as the chairman announced his selection. Dugan went up and down the aisles, and everybody gave him the "glad hand" and folded their ballots and tossed them into the hat he carried with him. "There's another for you, Dan, old boy," or "Hurrah for Danny Dugan."

He had a ballot shoved at him with the injunction, "Make it unanimous, Danny, hurl in a vote for your own ticket," and he put his ballot in the other teller's hat and sat down in the seventh heaven of satisfaction. The counting was finished in a few minutes and Dugan smiled as he saw the ballots all going over to one side. "It's a walk-away," he whispered to the man next to him. "It's a landslide," said his neighbor. The chairman stepped to the front of the platform and announced the vote for president as follows: For Peter Casey, 188 votes; for Daniel Dugan, one vote. Dugan grabbed his hat and madly rushed from the room, with a perfect howl of cheers following him. It was his last appearance in politics. The term "political boss" images to most people a stoutly built man with a pug nose and a large diamond, who smokes long black cigars and rules his ward or district with a rod of iron. Sometimes he is represented as a man with a heart bursting with sympathy for the poor, who squeezes the rich citizen to help out the constituents whose votes he harvests on election day. He is generally typified as eloquently profane, and story writers delight to set him down invariably as of Irish birth.

As a matter of fact, however, there are just as many different "bosses" as there are nationalities in the large cities, for a boss is simply a leader for the time being, and that may be for a few months or a few years or longer. And some of the most successful of all "bosses," politically speaking, have been Americans. The present president of the United States is one of the most masterful of political bosses. Who in his party dare openly say him "nay" with any hope of winning out against his rock-rooted strength?

The "boss" in the cities, however, especially the typical ward "boss," is often a man who may be evolved by either accident or design. Sometimes a man goes into the game to help a friend out, or to satisfy a grudge, and the glamor of the thing attracts him and he stays in, to finally emerge as a full-blown "leader." And some one of the young fellows who go into politics deliberately will work on for years in the same ward, growing up with the people who live there, identifying himself with them and their interests and finally winning the confidence of his constituents so lastingly that they will vote almost to a man as he wishes.

A true "boss" both follows and leads. He knows what his "people" want, and he does not stray far away from their desires. If his ward has a constituency which favors a liberal interpretation of the liquor question he is for the "open" Sunday, and even the all-night saloon, if necessary. He is strong on the subject of "the poor man's club" and hot against "blue laws" and for the maximum of "personal liberty." Incidentally, he favors a low license, usually.

If a "boss" lives in a Prohibition district he fulminates against "the demon rum" and points out statistically the ruin wrought by drink. This may not prevent him from having his "high-balls" at the club, or his champagne at the political banquets, but makes him strong with the voters whose support he seeks. He is on the alert for "blind pigs," or places where liquor is smuggled in and sold secretly, and he leads delegations to the mayor's office and to the legislatures to protest against the vice of drink.

The average "political boss" is in politics strictly for "what is in it," and that means that he is neither in the game for his health, his recreation nor his spiritual welfare. And why not? Do business or professional men enter into their respective vocations for any of the above reasons? I throw not. The "boss" has one fixed, set idea, and that is to "get there," as he would express it, to accumulate a large roll of simoleons and then retire to some respectable residence portion of the city and forget the low, coarse mob with which he was compelled to associate while he was getting his start. The successful ones do this, and the unsuccessful ones remain at the same old stand, reviling the ingratitude of the ones who "made the riff" and got away with their "bundle."

Ward "bosses" often combine to accomplish results, and they often cut the ground from under one another without the slightest compunction. I never knew but one "boss" whose word was absolutely and entirely to be depended on both as to what he could do, and what he would do. He could tell to a certainty about how his ward would go, and if he gave his word as to the delegates he never under any circumstances broke. He was a man of strong likes and dislikes and exceedingly blunt in his way of putting things. But he could neither be wheedled nor intimidated. The mere fact that he had promised the support of his delegates in a convention to a certain candidate did not determine that he would support that candidate at the polls on election. But just so far as his word went, that promise was iron-clad and irrevocable.

Time was when a "boss" was to be marked by his reputation for physical prowess. But those days are in the sere and yellow leaf. Strange to say, even in the toughest of the "tough" wards, the "leaders" are very seldom now men who depend on their "knock down and drag out" abilities. The "boss" of to-day aspires to be a "dresser" and a wit, not a "slugger." Pugilism is left to its regular exponents, and through many of the "bosses" may be patrons of the sparring matches, they have given the rough-and-tumble method of the past the good-by, and plume themselves on smoother plans to achieve success.

Such a thing as a conscience is something that no unscrupulous ward "boss" will harbor, for to him conscience is a dead letter in politics. Besides, a "boss" may be in one party one year, and on the other side of the fence the next year. He may support a measure at first and then "switch" and fight it. Expediency is his watchword, and he will support a man whom he cordially despises if he can see advantage to himself in the end. The questions of party principles have an exceedingly hazy interest to him, for the class with which he mingles, and the interests which he represents, have no time at all to study political economy, and no inclination towards the ethical side of politics.

It was a matter of genuine interest to meet the various "bosses," big and little, and weigh them and analyze them as they came into my perspective. They were always a trifle curious as to just how I happened to be in politics, and I am quite certain they were decidedly uncertain as to just how I came to be holding down a fair-salaried position when I could not deliver delegates; and yet, meeting me in the game at every turn, from the primaries to the national conventions, they knew I was "keeping cases," as they may have expressed it, and that in some mysterious way I must be of some value in the sum total of elements making up political life.

The question of silent "bosses" and talkative "bosses" is one which has been variously reviewed, and the average judgment has been that the silent "boss" was the great power. The fact was that the "silent" boss could talk fast enough when he wanted to, and the talkative boss could "stand pat" when he so desired. If it was the nature of a "boss" to talk he did so, if he was a naturally secretive man, he kept still generally. The most effective combination was the "boss" who could talk or keep still as occasion demanded, and who could neither be goaded nor coaxed into either silence or speech against his better judgment.

It could be said in favor of nearly every real ward "boss" that he was not an orator. Not in the sense of a "silver-tongued spell binder." Many of them could give good, common sense talks, and effective ones, too, but they did not essay to split the welkin with their perorations, and rather despised in their hearts the "wind-jammer" and his periods. At the same time, for a genuinely great speaker they had a deep respect and enjoyed hearing him. As for the "man with the pen," they were never unwilling to avail themselves of his services if he could "make good" with anything to help on a campaign.

LONGEVITY IN HOT CLIMATES

Tropical Races Are Shown to Be Much Longer Lived.

Because in tropical countries more decayed vegetable matter is found and in consequence more miasma, the idea has become popular that only vigorous health and long life are likely in northern latitudes where frost now and then asserts itself. The fact that humanity matures much earlier in tropical climates seems to warrant the conclusion that it must necessarily perish much earlier. Dr. Luigi Sambon of Rome attempts to put the popular impression to sleep by an elaborate exhibition of statistics.

He doesn't contend that the warm climate is the most suitable to a man, under the conditions of modern civilization, but he remonstrates vigorously against the idea that a cold and variable climate is the most conducive to the physical and intellectual improvement of the human race. While northern climates may produce stalwart frames, statistics show that they do not conduce to longevity. In proof of his position the doctor cites the fact that the average Arab outlives the average Esquimaux by not less than 25 years.

He shows that the people who live along the unhealthy coasts of Central and South America survive the inhabitants of the higher and cooler altitudes of the interior. He shows also that the Hindus, who often reach puberty as early as nine years, live to a surprising old age. The inhabitants of the southern countries of Europe are found to live much longer than those of the more northern latitude.

To illustrate, in England in a population of 27,000,000 there are but 146 centenarians, while in Spain, with a population of but 18,000,000, there are 401 centenarians. The probabilities are that the great mortality found in southern latitudes is found in the cities, and is therefore not so much the fault of the climate as of an indifference to sanitary laws.

Forcing His Chances.
"So Shadblow is in trouble again?"
"Yes, a bit of a scandal."
"I told him not to play unless he could afford to lose."
"He must have gotten your advice mixed, and decided he couldn't afford to play unless he didn't lose."—Washington Star.

TAMMANY TO MOVE

MORE CENTRAL LOCATION DESIRED BY ORGANIZATION.

Present Quarters Have Been Occupied by the Democratic Body Since 1888—One National Convention Held There.

New York—Tammany is to leave its historic home in East Fourteenth street and move uptown.

A movement quietly began several weeks ago among the sachems of the Tammany society for the sale of the old building and the purchase of a modern, up-to-date one in the center of activity is expected to reach a definite stage soon. Charles F. Murphy favors the change, it is said.

One of the reasons of the secrecy observed was that agents might quietly look for a site. It is intimated that options have been taken on two or three. It is expected that it will take at least a year to erect a building suitable to the needs of the Tammany society and of Tammany hall. It is the present intention of the sachems to

Those advocating the change insist that it will be very profitable to Tammany. There has been recently a great demand for the property on which Tammany hall, Pastor's theater and the Academy of Music stand as sites for modern buildings. If Tammany moves, Pastor's theater, owned by the society, would have to go also, and it is regarded as certain that the entire block fronting on East Fourteenth street would be purchased and modern buildings erected upon it.

The main inducement to the change is that Tammany hall is no longer centrally located. A site not lower than Thirty-fifth street and perhaps even north of Forty-second street, is desired.

The existing building has been the home of Tammany since 1868, when the organization moved from its old quarters where is now the New York Sun building. The removal was marked by a notable parade of the braves. In 1868 the only Democratic national convention ever held in this city was held in the present building. Horatio Seymour, who had declared on the platform of the convention that he was not a candidate, was nominated for president.

Quarters of Tammany Hall from 1812 to 1868.

Puzzling Problem Solved.

In these days of the perplexing servant-girl question and the can't-keep-the-cook joke it is interesting to note that there are some striking exceptions to the general rule. The Chicago School of Domestic Arts and Sciences at its recent annual meeting presented a gold medal to a maid who has served continuously in one family for 34 years, and placed on a roll of honor the names of ten others who have kept one place for from 11 to 20 years. Mrs. Nelson Thomasson, the lucky employer of the prize winner, said: "In my opinion, the servant problem would be solved speedily if the old time affection between servant and employer could be revived. Eliza stays with us because she likes us and we like her. She is one of the family. She has risen above rules and regulations, which are as unnecessary in her case as they would be in mine. She goes out when she thinks it convenient and stays in when she thinks it advisable. When she sees work to be done she does it."

Wherein We Differ.
The duchess of Marlborough, at the dinner given in New York in honor of Mrs. Humphry Ward, said: "From earliest childhood English women are made to feel the obligations of individual responsibility and society itself demands adequate fulfillment. It is this sense of obligation that we American women should foster and develop."

SENATOR BURROWS SELECTED

Michigan Man to Be Temporary Chairman of Republican National Convention.

Chicago—Julius Caesar Burrows, who is to be temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, has represented the state of Michigan

Senator J. C. Burrows.

in the United States senate since 1895, when he was elected to succeed Francis B. Stockbridge, who died three years before his term expired. Mr. Burrows' home is at Kalamazoo. He was an officer in the union army and was appointed supervisor of internal revenue for Michigan and Wisconsin in 1887. He was elected a representative to the Forty-third, Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh congresses and appointed solicitor of the government treasury department by President Arthur in 1884, but declined the office. He was in the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth congresses and was twice elected speaker pro tem of the house of representatives during the Fifty-first congress. His present term of service in the senate will expire March 3, 1911.

after a conference with President Roosevelt, to get, if possible, the $50,000 necessary to take him on his ninth expedition in search of the north pole, has been in the service of the United States navy since 1881. In his last trip, 1893 to 1902, he attained 84 degrees 17 minutes north and named the most northerly land in the world, Cape Morris K. Jesup. Commander Peary was born at Creston, Pa., in 1856 and was graduated from Bowdoin college. He entered the United States navy as a civil engineer and has been employed in the engineer corps when not on his arctic expeditions. His discoveries have gained for him a number of medals from scientific societies.

Could Not Pass the Examination.

A dilapidated specimen of a man stopped a Kansas City merchant on the street one morning and asked for a cash donation. "Mister," he said in a plaintive voice, "I ain't had any work to do for more'n a month, an' I'm powerful hard up." "Been out of work for a month?" said the merchant. "What is your occupation?" "I work in the packing house when I can get anything to do." "In the killing department?" "No, sir, in the cutting-room." "Then you can tell me, perhaps, how many teeth a cow has on her upper jaw?"

"Why—er—no, sir, I never noticed." "That's too bad," said the merchant, putting his hand in his pocket. "The dime I am going to give you would have been a dollar if you hadn't failed in your examination."—Youth's Companion.

Not in Favor of College.

Mrs. William H. Taft is not in favor of the college education for her daughter, but will not oppose her if she wishes to take it. Mrs. Taft says that she thinks for the work that a woman will do in the world in her own home an academic education is sufficient. Her daughter will graduate this year at a preparatory school at Bryn Mawr and will be fitted to enter the college if she cares to.

NOMINATED BUT DECLINES TO MAKE RACE.

ADA MAN BIG REPUBLICAN

He Has Been the Host of Many Members from Party and in Return Has Awarded Much
Service.

The Hon U G Winn, at present
member of the republican state executive committee late republican candidate for state senator for the 23rd
district, has been nominated by the
republican 4th congressional district
convention to make the race in the
approaching primary for congress.
Judge Winn has declined the nomi-
nation on account of the demand of
his personal business. The News
hereunder publishes copy of his
formal letter of declination addressed
to the Hon Sam Downing, chairman
of the committee Judge Winn is regarded as one of the leading republicans of Oklahoma and well does he
deserve to sustain such reputation
for in this district of overwhelming
democracy and within a state of democratic achievement such as must assuredly permanently maintain that
party in power—for its well grounded
principles will not admit of too dangerous defection from the chosen path
of righteousness—in such field of ad-
verse substantial political opportunity for any republican he has not
grown faint hearted but through
time and financial subscription has
persevered in undertaking to maintain the integrity of the republican
state and district organization. The
republicans if anything are a re-
ciprocal organization—which is the
whereof of much of their success—
and many party honors have been
properly extended this distinguished
republican of Ada. He was one of
the late alternate delegates to the Chicago convention.

vention Atoka Ok

My Dear Sir—
I am deeply impressed with the
honor conferred upon me by the republicans of the Fourth Congressional District in nominating me for the
high office of congressman and am
no less impressed with a sense of
duty to serve my party when called
upon but owing to the pressing importance of my personal attention to
private business affairs I feel that I would be unable to make such a
campaign of the district as in my
judgment would seem necessary and
am therefore persuaded with some
degree of reluctance, to decline the
nomination.

I assure you that I shall always
be found in the ranks of the party
laboring for the upbuilding of the
party in the new state and the principles that have safely guided the
old ship of state for half a century.

Thanking you and the republicans
of the Fourth congressional district
for the unsolicited courtesies shown
me and the confidence sought to be
reposed in me as the republican national representative from this district, I beg to subscribe myself

U GRANT WINN

BRYAN IN COMMONER PITTIES REPUBLICANS

The president advocated an inheri-
tance tax but republican platform is
silent on that subject. Was the president ahead of the republican party
in advocating this reform or has the
republican party receded from the
president's position? Did the president give a false alarm on this question or has the party sounded a retreat?

In the president's message to congress last spring he presented an indictment against the conspiracy found
among the great lawbreakers to pre-

vent the enforcement of the law, and
to evade the punishments provided
by law. The platform adopted by the
republican convention contains no indication of danger. If there are any
conspiracies the convention did not
see them, if there are any combinations it has not heard of them, if
there are any dangers they are un-
conscious of them. Was the president mistaken when he issued his denance
or the republican managers deceived
when they think that an aroused public will calmly contemplate the en-
croachments of predatory wealth?

The convention by a vote of 866 to 114—more than 7 to 1—voted down
the plank in favor of the popular
election of United States Senators. It
is true that the president and Secretary Taft have never advocated the
popular election of Senators. They
seem to take the Hamiltonian rather
than the Jeffersonian view, but the most
popular reform in the United States
today is the reform that has for its object election of United States senators by direct vote. It has five times
been endorsed by the national house
of representatives—three times when
the house of representatives was republican. It has been endorsed by
nearly two-thirds of the states of the
union and there is probably not a
state in the union in which it would
not be endorsed at a popular election
and yet in spite of the record made
in the houses and by the various
states this reform is rejected by a 7 to 1 vote in a republican national convention.

Here are seven propositions upon
which the republican party in nation convention assembled has retreat-
ed from the position taken by that
party in congress or from the position taken by the president. What
have Roosevelt republicans to say?
The president has awakened a spirit
of reform within his party, he has
at least revealed to the world that
there are reformers in the republi-
can party.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

At the North Side Baptist Church
Sunday.

It is said by many who attended the "Children's Day Services" at the North Ada Baptist church on Sunday that no more interesting and impressive exercises could be given than those rendered by the young ladies and the children. This is especially true of the pieces entitled,

"Crowning the Book," "Planting a Rose Garden," rendered by the young ladies, and the address of welcome by Miss Adelia Richardson. Mrs. Rushing's Bible class in "Crowning the Book" brought tears from old men who stood in the doorway. Planting a Rose Garden, with chorus, by the whole school was an object lesson indeed. This piece was rendered by Mrs. Ida Westbrook's class in which there is a levy of Misses capable of doing justice to any moral or literary subject.

Mrs. Granter's class of little tots made a sweet display of what they could do. The classes led by Mrs. E. M. Smith, Mrs. Vinnie Wilson, J. D. Gaar and others acquitted themselves gracefully.

Mrs. W. N. Walpole, who did the training and had the management of the program has the heartfelt thanks of the parents of these children. These children have been led by Supt. D. Rushing, for months and he has certainly implanted in their young hearts the spirit of beneficence as was evidenced at the close of these exercises by the number of jingling mite-boxes piled upon the pulpit, to be equally divided between our Orphans' Home and the American Baptist Publication Society. City Council Proceedings.

Council met in adjourned session, Mayor Geo. Harrison presiding. Present Alderman Haynes, Sims, Shirley, Little, Sutton, Crowder and Evans; absent Hill.

and seconded by Alderman Evans the council voted to reconsider the bill of the Ada Democrat for printing a brief for the city, for which the amount of $42 had been allowed, after some discussion the council voted to sustain the bill as originally passed.

The council then took up the matter of street and sidewalk grades, street paving bond issues, etc., and on motion of Alderman Little, Mayor Harrison appointed Alderman Sims and Little to confer with committee of 25,000 Club and other citizens and arrange a meeting to discuss the questions and adopt a policy best for the majority of the citizens of Ada.

Chief Culver asked that he be given help to look after the impounding of stock and dogs, referred to the financial committee. The council then adjourned.

McAlester Gets State Convicts.

Guthrie, Okla., June 22.—The temporary penitentiary where the inmates of the state, now at Lansing, Kans., will be quartered, will be located at McAlester. The information is direct from the board of control, which met here tonight for the purpose of considering a contract from McAlester for the feeding of the prisoners to be worked on the McAlester road.

It has offered one site of 100 acres free to the state and this will be accepted later. A huge stockade will be built for temporary purposes.

Four-fifths of the Oklahoma prisoners will be worked on the road. Muskogee has agreed to bridge all the streams crossed by the road and other counties are expected to follow suit. The cost of maintaining the convicts probably will be borne by the state.

THE PAPER TRUST

New York, June 22.—Twenty-four companies manufacturing manila wrapping paper were fined $1,000 each in the United States circuit court today. They pleaded guilty Friday to maintaining an illegal combination in restraint of trade. In imposing the fines Judge Hough said that the combination was clearly a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but because of extenuating circumstances he would impose fines only. They will pay through counsel.

GRAND-LEADER

ADA OKLA. KATZ & ROSENFELD

SUNDAY AT THE PRESBYTERIAN.
Extract of Eloquent Sermon Preached
by the Pastor Rev. J. W. White.

Christ, the Spiritual Magnet.
And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. John 12:32.

We are living in an age of research in both the physical and spiritual realms. Man as a result of his investigation has been brought face to face with certain indisputable facts concerning nature's mysterious laws, forces and principles. He has learned much about his own experience and destiny but even here his knowledge will remain incomplete until perfected in eternity. However, it does seem inconsistent for a man to accept as true certain discovered facts concerning magnetism and other forces of nature and then reject other facts which are just as simple concerning his Christian life and destiny because he thinks the latter are too mysterious. Magnetism is a created force existing under certain conditions. The earth possesses this property to a marked degree. It is probable that the disciples to whom Christ addressed the language of our text did not understand magnetism as we do today but it is positively true that Christ intended to thus emphasize the fact that He was the great moral and spiritual Magnet to whom the people of all ages must be drawn that they might obtain salvation. It is therefore of Him in this sphere that we now turn our thoughts in prayerful consideration.

1. What magnetism is to the material world, Christ is to the spiritual world. The necessity of this force, however, little is known of its nature, is seen constantly in our daily life. Our lives and fortunes are many times entrusted to this force. The vessels that voyage between the nations of earth burdened with men and women and the world's merchandise are largely dependent upon the magnetic action of the compass together with the records kept that they may locate themselves on the ocean. A heavy gale may sweep them many miles from the direct path to their destination but their geographical location as to longitude and latitude is easily found in spiritual counsels. The Bible is our record. Christ, the moral and spiritual magnet to whom we are drawn. There is not a storm of sin or temptation that can sweep us from the path of duty so far but that with Christ as our magnet and the Bible as our record we can easily locate ourselves on the ocean of life. John the beloved disciple when banished to the Isle of Patmos with a cave for his home and possibly criminals for his associates, was drawn so close to Christ that he saw the world in its best and sweetest vision of heaven in the book of Revelation.

2. The extent of Christ's magnetic power. It is to all men. It will draw all men into me. The time had come when men began to feel the extent of salvation. A certain people had always been God's chosen people, and through them the sacred oracles of God had come. It is here that a world wide invitation to Christ for salvation is given. It is even more than an invitation. Christ will draw all men. While magnetic power of Christ is universal in extent in drawing men to Him it is also universal in repelling sin. If man clings to his sin the power that repels his sin will repel him also unless he breaks away from sin. This is why some are drawn to Christ while others are driven from Him. It simply means fatal results for man to continue either by negligence or indifference to resist the magnetic power of Christ.

3. The object to which the magnetic power of Christ draws man. It is to himself. Sometimes we are attracted to objects that lack permanency. Possibly in certain sections of the country we could find where men have prospected for mineral but went away disappointed. Ponce De Leon went in search of the fabled fountain of youth but returned in disappointment. When we come to Christ there is no disappointment but we find in Him the treasures far more valuable to us than the material things of this world. We find in the fountain of joy, peace and love.

4. The magnetic power of Christ makes magnets of us. Dr. H. B. Gage tell us of a compass in which the needle had lost its polarity and pointed to the south when it should point to the north. He would point the needle in the right direction, but this would not remedy the defect. Finally he fastened the needle with point properly directed and passed an electric current through it and thus properly restored its polarization. Sin effects our lives in such a manner that we lose the power to point others to Christ. We need to be brought more closely with God's power through Christ ourselves. Christian culture, growth and refinement is always found when near Christ. Let us resolve that we will be drawn to Christ rather than be attracted by sin.

had been one of the first to enter the United States when the barrier against the world was thrown down, and Norma, still yearning for his love, had gone to his arms as if nothing had ever held them apart. She was a world figure now, and the world was at her feet. Behind him was nothing save the knowledge of earnest endeavor and honest defeat; but to her he had been the same, nor did she anticipate that a king would later take his hand and say, "Well done, even though you failed."

They had passed the brief days prior to the ceremony in dread, courtship, neither the display nor the limelight into which they were driven by the parts they had played. The publicity had been against their wishes, and the gifts of the world in which each country vied afforded no pleasure equal to that of being alone and at rest with each other. They had seized the first opportunity after the marriage to escape, leaving their destination unknown.

They had retreated to the seclusion of Atlantic Highlands, where the great beacon stands facing the broad stretch of open sea, and where they might be removed from the pomp and pageantry of nations. And even as that great embarkation took place down the water front of the city which loomed far behind them, they stood on a cliff by the ocean side. They had avoided the last act in the drama of deference, a receipt given to the president and the inventor, and were content to be left alone.

Suddenly from the far away bay came the slow, sullen undertone of guns in salute. Again came the thunderous monotone and then, emerging from the distant haze into the clearer air, appeared a flight of aerial things in orderly formation. The girl's hands clasped themselves together as she watched.

There they were, 20 miles away, the ships—her ships—which she had led out to victory and directed through the maze and turmoil of battle. She stood silent and spellbound as they slowly advanced, and then discerned on the waters beneath them the slow moving shapes of ships of the sea. The radiophones were traversing the air as an escort above those others in final parade. In twin procession the fleets came nearer, emboldened of night.

The guns of Governor's Island belched as they advanced; then from opposite sides of the channel the voices of Forts Lafayette and Hamilton gave greeting and farewell. Onward they swept to where the colossal statue of Liberty held her beacon aloft in token of a new enlightenment of the world, and the cannon of the sea fleet spoke for the first time in unison, saluting as they passed in one terrible explosion of sound which reverberated along the shores and was thrown back by the echoes. Here they came, the dying gladiators of all nations sailing out to doom!

Well in front were the vanquished squadrons of Japan, their funnels repaired for the last cruise they would ever make, but stripped of fighting masts. Back of them came the mighty ships of England, with prows turned outward for their final voyage. German cruisers, graceful and well manned, followed, while in their wakes could be seen others flying the banners of Italy, of France, of Russia, and nearly every maritime nation of the globe. Flanking this assemblage were the vessels of the American navy, which but a short time before had been regarded as the country's bulwarks, and were now participating in the last review.

The science of ages, the experience of all who had gone down to the sea,

the refinement of skill and study, and the genius of evolution were embodied in those metal sides. They represented the wealth of nations collected through sweat and blood, all poured out unthinkingly for this—consignment to the scrap heaps of a world that had abandoned war. The glories of past deeds of valor would no longer be emulated upon the waves. The sea had been untenanted before man's ingenuity found a means of breasting it. His coming had left it unscarred and unimproved. It alone was unconquerable, changeless and heedless. Through centuries it had scorned him, and now it was bidding his craft

DOING THEIR DUTY.
Scores of Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

G. W. Pulse, janitor of the Central school, Ada, Okla., at 215 E. Logan avenue, Guthrie, Okla., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy in which I have great confidence, and I heartily re-endorse what I have before stated about them in our Guthrie newspapers. I have had occasion to appeal to them twice since giving my original statement, and in the former case, they quickly dispersed the backache and other symptoms of other over-excited or weakened kidneys. I have been asked about them by a number of my friends and acquaintances, and I never fail to speak of them in high words of praise. I remember one party in particular who came to me and asked about them. It was a friend who was suffering and had been for years. I advised him to use them. He did so, and I afterwards, learned that they cured him completely. It is a pleasure to endorse a remedy which acts up to the representation made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit, or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the (sufferer) than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

STATES HIS POSITION IN ICE BUSINESS SOLICITS SUPPORT

To the People of Ada:

I wish to say in regard to the ice business that there has been considerable talk along that line for the past three or four weeks and sometimes any one would almost think there had never been any ice business in Ada before, which you all know is a mistake. I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice. I have been here six years and there has been ice here nearly all the time, or more so than some towns of larger population. I have at all times tried to meet the demand for ice. I have lost sleep in the past and worked at night as well as my neighbor, and it was a critical time, very hot and dry when ice was most needed, but of course I have not lost any sleep this spring from the simple fact that there hasn't been any occasion, for the ice weather hasn't come yet for the ice man who has his people's wants at heart to worry and lose sleep to keep them in ice, and I want to say that those parties who have come from Kansas City and started the plant here, that they are not any more home people than I am.

As stated above, I have been here six years, and I'll say that I haven't been out of Ada to exceed ten days at any one time, and all the property I own is here and all the interests I have is in Ada today, and I want to tell you if the plant that is here can be run to a success, I am as glad to see it as any one; if it will make any money in Ada I want it to go. But you must remember, I am in the ice business, have got a lot of money invested and have tried to adjust matters with the plant so I would not have to be in any way conflicting with their business and instead, become a customer of theirs myself, but have failed and now I shall ask of you to remember that I've kept ice here when no one else would through winter and summer and especially in the winter season; of course you did not want it then, only in case of sickness and in case of that sort you most assuredly needed it if you ever did in the world. Now think, when did you call to get it? I will leave that for you to say. Now I will ask your support for the above reason.

I have the best ice that is manufactured in the southwest. There is none better. I use the Chas. V. Sanderson coupon system which is given up to be the best and most reliable system for handling ice ever invented.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 15, 1908
Messrs. Hardin and Jones,

Ada, Oklahoma,

Gentlemen:

On June 4th I called on the late Sheriff Garrison of Oklahoma City to induce him to continue the $5,000 accident policy which he had carried with this company for five years.

He stated that he had given the matter careful consideration and had decided to discontinue this protection for the present.

On June 5th Mr. Garrison was shot and killed by a negro whom he was attempting to capture.

The sheriff of Kay Co. Oklahoma, was killed this spring by being thrown from a moving passenger train at Ponca City. He had written this company for rates one day before.

If the sheriff and other officers in your county do not carry this important protection, why not?

Yours truly,

Kings Back Home.

Hon. I. M. King and family, after a few weeks' visit in Alabama, where they were the guests of relatives and friends at the old home places and within the scenes of youthful environment, have returned home.

The Kings of Ada are true Alabamians and though they are Oklahoma pioneers and of honorable and successful achievement in the new state, they remain regardless of the old home wherein the inherent principle inborn from honorable parentage was nurtured for the guidance of the future, and nearly every year it is noted they go quietly back to the old home across the Mississippi.

The reporter caught Mr. King a minute on the street and inquired of him the condition of the crops in the east. He stated that floods in Alabama, as in Oklahoma, had worked irreparable injury to crops.

W. D. Moorer of Oklahoma City was here this morning enroute to Sulphur where he will attend the B. Y. P. U. encampment.
